Prolonged Remission in a Patient With Nasopharyngeal Carcinoma With a Solitary Bone Metastasis

tients when using conventional imaging.^{2,3} Platinum-based chemotherapy regimens are effective in previously untreated patients in both the neoadjuvant and metastatic/relapsed settings.⁴⁻⁹ The response rate for platinum-based combinations in the metastatic setting is approximately 40% to 70% with a median survival of 1 year. While locoregionally advanced NPC is frequently curable with an intensive course of chemoradiotherapy, the identification of distant metastases on staging investigations would generally deem a patient to be incurable and a more palliative approach would be adopted. However, it has

⁵ I will visit you after passing through Macedonia, for I intend to pass through Macedonia, ⁶ and perhaps I will stay with you or even spend the winter, so that you may help me on my journey, wherever I go. ⁷ For I do not want to see you now just in passing. I hope to spend some time with you, if the Lord permits. ⁸ But I will stay in Ephesus until Pentecost, ⁹ for a wide door for effective work has opened to me, and there are many adversaries.
